

Hunter Valley Market Update 2nd Half 2020

OVERVIEW

In Q2 2020, Hunter Valley* recorded a median house price of $470,000, and a median unit price of $325,000. This represents a slight annual (Q2 2019 - Q2 2020) median price softening of -3.1% for houses and growth of 1.6% for units. Between Q2 2019 - Q2 2020 total house sales slowed, by -9.7% (to 155 sales), while unit sales increased by 45.5% (to 16 sales). Overall the Hunter Valley* market remains in a fairly steady position amidst COVID-19 conditions, which is encouraging for current owners and perspective buyers.

FUTURE DEVELOPMENTS

The Hunter Valley* area is set to see approximately $121.0M worth of new projects commencing in the 2nd half of 2020.

A focus on commercial and infrastructure projects will stimulate economic growth and create employment opportunities in Hunter Valley*, which will have a positive spill-over impact on the real estate market.

A main commercial project over the 2nd half of 2020 is the Raymond Terrace Retirement Village ($41.4M), which is set to create a total of 156 new retirement units. The $43.0M infrastructure project Maitland Administration Centre will see the construction of a new 5,000 sqm building and the refurbishment of the existing State heritage-listed Maitland Town Hall. Residential projects such as the $1.1M Kingham Circuit Residential Subdivision (21 lots) provide first home buyers with another avenue to enter the market.

AVERAGE VENDOR DISCOUNT* KEY COMMENTS

Average vendor discount reflects the average percentage difference between the first list price and final sold price. A lower percentage difference (closer to 0.0%) suggests that buyers are willing to purchase close to the first asking price of a property.

MARKET COMPARISON

Average vendor discounts between Q2 2019 and Q2 2020 have tightened for both property types, to -3.7% for houses and -3.6% for units. Market conditions in the Hunter Valley* provide unique opportunities as sellers can now achieve a final sale price closer to first list price, yet buyers can still benefit from a discount. Now is the time to transact in Hunter Valley*.

The suburb of Maitland has historically provided greater value than the wider Maitland Local Government Area (LGA) particularly in its median house price. This said, 2020[#] has seen a cooling in prices in Maitland, making it even more affordable in relative to the Maitland LGA.

The dominant proportion of homes sold in the Hunter Valley* across 2020[^] were in the premium price bracket of above $550,000 (29.1%). Units recorded a dominant mid-price point of $350,000-$400,000 (31.1%). This suggest there is a property for every budget.

The market comparison graph provides a comparative trend for the median price of houses and units over the past 5 years. The main LGA profiled was chosen based on their proximity to the main suburb analysed, which is Maitland.

RENTAL GROWTH 2020*

Over the past 12 months, house rental yields in the Hunter Region increased strongly, to reach 4.2% in June 2020. This suggests the house rental market is in a healthy position, particularly when combined with the 2.7% increase to house rental demand, to 266 rentals in the 12 months to Q2 2020.

3 bedroom houses have provided investors with +2.6% rental growth annually, achieving a median rent of $390 per week.

The Hunter Region recorded a vacancy rate of 1.1% in June 2020. This represents a continues declining trend since June 2017, and an even sharper decline since December 2019 – despite COVID-19 rental market expectations. Vacancy rate in the Hunter Region is positioned well below Sydney Metro's 3.8% average and travelling in an opposite direction. This confirms there is a healthy rental market and a conducive investment environment in the Hunter Region.
